Crissinger Will Continue as Comptroller of Currency Although Nominated as Governor of the Reserve Board.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 5.—The country today faced the now unaccompanied prospect of nine months without a session of Congress. The 67th Congress, which opened on Monday, March 5, and adjourned on Tuesday, March 6, will not meet again until September 1, 1923. The recess is the longest in the history of the Senate and House, and it is the longest in the history of the country.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 5.—James McNary, of New Mexico, whose nomination for governor of the currency failed of confirmation by the Senate, was offered a recess appointment today by President Harding but declined it. McNary had been nominated for governor of the currency, but the Senate had not yet acted on his nomination. He was offered a recess appointment to continue in that office for the present, but he declined it.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS WILL ELECT HALF FORCE TOMORROW

Public interest is centered today on the election of the police commissioners of the Danville police commission. The election will take place tomorrow morning at ten o'clock at the city hall. The commissioners will elect half of the force, and the other half will be elected at a later date.

The meeting will be held at three o'clock and will be attended, it is anticipated, by all five members, Mayor Harry Wooding, chairman, J. W. Harrison, J. C. Carter, F. W. Townes, and W. W. Clark. Eight new candidates have complied with the rules and regulations governing the conduct of the department by submitting to physical and mental tests at the hands of Dr. J. E. Taylor, police examiner, who will submit his reports on each man tomorrow. Following are the men applying: Frederick Newton Gery, 1391 Washington street, married, age 31, employed in city garbage department; James E. Taylor, 227 Campbell street, married, age 22, present job shipping clerk; Collins Perry Harper, 639 Monroe street, married, age 29, employed in a laundry; Claude Hutchings Elliott, 1201 Washington street, married, age 22, at present employed as a motorman; William E. Demarcus is single, 39 years of age and is a bricklayer. Joseph Henry Dix, age 42, put in an application and took the mental test, but is barred from patrolmen's place by reason of his age. Saturday was the last day on which new applications could be received and no new candidates can now be filed. The present incumbents may, however, file their candidacy for re-election up until the hour of the meeting. All of the old men have re-applied except Police Detective J. C. Lewis, whose name did not appear as an applicant on the list of candidates on the list of chiefs of police. This has led to the belief that Mr. Lewis might be a candidate tomorrow for the position of sergeant, as has been recently reported. Chief of Police Bell said this morning that there had been no new

Negro Being Held For Bold Hold-up

E. S. Lester Held Up at Point of Pistol Sunday Night on Loyal Street and Robbed of $11 But Purse Containing $44 Is Overlooked.

A bold hold-up was reported to the police on Sunday night when E. S. Lester informed them that he had been held up at the point of a pistol by two negroes and relieved of eleven dollars in currency. During their haste to get away before any one passed the negroes overlooked a purse containing forty-four dollars. Within an hour after the robbery, Herbert Corbett, better known as "Groundhog," had been arrested and identified by Lester as one of the hold-up men, and numerous others arrested as suspects had been released.

The alleged hold-up occurred about 10:45 o'clock Sunday night on Loyal street, and resulted in a bold hold-up in view of the fact of the early hour and that it was on a street ordinarily very seldom deserted except after midnight. Mr. Lester reported to the police that he was coming down Loyal street to a drug store, driving a Ford machine. He said two negroes appeared in the street and hailed him. One of them leveled a pistol at him and commanded him to halt. The car was stopped at a fast rate and had not come to a stop when the men jumped to the running board, one on each side. The man in the left is said to have held the pistol on Mr. Lester while the other negro, on the right, snatched a pocket on the right side. The pockets on the left side were not searched, this being ascribed to the robbers' haste to get away after finding one purse.

Enrolling Clerks Deny Allegation

(By The Associated Press.)
RALEIGH, N. C., March 5.—That a session of the General Assembly tomorrow will be required to complete necessary legislation appeared likely today when the work was resumed after the weekend recess. In response to a report that the congestion in the enrolling clerk's office was responsible for the probable failure of the legislature to adjourn tonight those employees today addressed a special communication to presiding officers of both houses denying the alleged hindrance. The enrolling clerks asserted they are fully abreast of legislation in their work and that every bill passed was ready last night for ratification.

Miller, of 314 Harrison street, Lynchburg's "grand old man," is spending his 99th birthday quietly at home today, unattended by the usual celebration, as two members of his family have crossed the bar during the year just passed. D. P. Withers, Jr. Is Victim Of Sudden Pneumonia Attack

Daniel Price Withers, Jr., only son and eldest child of Judge and Mrs. D. Price Withers, died at the parental home on Main street at noon today, a victim of double pneumonia in its most vicious form which carried the young patient away within three days. It became known early this morning that the boy, who was sixteen years of age, was in extremis and this in itself came as a shock to friends of the family who had seen him up and apparently well no later than last Friday.

Last Friday night he returned home and complained of feeling poorly. Influenza recently seized several members of the Withers family and it was thought that the boy who only recently recovered from tonsillitis was developing the malady then running through the house. He spent a restless night and it was perceived then that he had a high temperature and added concern was caused when he began complaining of pains in his throat. On Saturday he was worse and physicians were called in to find dangerous symptoms of pleurisy. Desperately heroic efforts he made gradually worse and throughout Sunday his condition was critical with double pneumonia developing from pleurisy. Early this morning with four doctors attending him he passed away. It is believed that he had been able to withstand a fatal termination although every known remedy for the malady was resorted to as the fatal hours slipped by with the child gradually yielding. His passing away at noon his father and mother are prostrated with grief. The boy was the eldest child, a boy of unusual capacity and promise and in whom the pride of the parents was naturally invested. He was a student at High School where he had shown ability and where he was generally popular. He is survived by his parents and two sisters, Agnes and Mary. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Court Postponed As Judge's Son Is Seriously Ill

The opening of the regular criminal term of the corporation court which was due to start this morning, was postponed on account of the critical illness of Judge Withers' only son and eldest child, Daniel Price Withers Jr. aged 16 who developed a vicious form of pneumonia on Friday night and who was reported in extremis this morning. When witnesses and jurors appeared in court this morning the clerk of the court informed them of this development and the court sergeant P. H. Boush adjourned court for the time being required by law, that is until Wednesday. The does not mean, however, that jurors or witnesses must return Wednesday for it is certain that another adjournment will be taken until Saturday and on Saturday again an adjournment will be taken until Monday.

Commonwealth's Attorney John W. Carter this morning held a brief conference with Judge Withers who authorized Mr. Carter to telephone to Governor Trinkle asking that another day be designated to hold court. This is being arranged for.

The statement issued by Mr. Mayfield declared Mr. Peddy's election contest "a continuation of a campaign of misrepresentation and abuse."

Abandon Efforts to Prevent Daugherty and Lasker Leaving

Many Nominations Are Acted Upon

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Comparatively few nominations failed of confirmation with the adjournment of the Senate. Heading the list were those of James G. McNary, southwestern banker, to be comptroller of currency and Joseph D. Tolbert, veteran Republican leader of South Carolina, to be United States marshal for the western South Carolina district. More than a score of postmaster nominations also failed, but mostly by lapse and not opposition. All of Mr. Tolbert's name was twice sent to the Senate. He was opposed by Senator Dial, Democrat, South Carolina, and others, who made charges of improper personal conduct. The United States Republican national committee of South Carolina and has been a prominent figure for years at Republican national conventions. Numerous eleven-hour nominations were confirmed this morning, including those of Representative Oscar E. Bland, Republican, Indiana, and Charles S. Hatfield, of Ohio, to be justices of the court of customs appeals. All of the federal judgeship nominations made recently were confirmed, but the President failed to send in appointments to four of the 24 judicial seats provided in the law in connection with the federal judiciary. The vacancies are in Florida, eastern Missouri, eastern Oklahoma and Montana districts, and may be filled by recess appointments. The Senate adjourned without filling the Democratic vacancy on the allied debt commission, appointment which both Senators Glass, Democrat, Virginia, and Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, declined, and some Democratic leaders predicted that it might never be filled.

Urges Action to Prevent Outrageous Prices for Gasoline

WASHINGTON, March 5.—A dollar a gallon for gasoline? The prospect for the consumer in the report of the LaFollette investigating committee to the senate, in some measure taken to break the alleged complete domination and control of the oil industry by the standard companies. If a few great oil companies are allowed to manipulate price and fix the standard of crude oil since 1920, the report says, the people of the country must be prepared before long to pay at least that price. The result of a three months probe into conditions in the oil industry in violation of the 1911 dissolution decree, exercise their alleged control in such a manner as to fix the price which the producer of crude oil received at the well the price which the refiner receives for gasoline as well as the retail price to the consumer.

YOUNG HENRY COUNTY MAN MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS

Sherrill Turner of Henry county has been appealed to by Mrs. Ren Talbott of Aiken Summit, to find her husband who mysteriously disappeared last Wednesday, and of whom no trace has since been found. Mr. Talbott, who is described as a young man, is a native of Henry county, and is the son of a family associated with his father, B. T. Talbott, in conducting a general store at Aiken Summit. He had in his pocket $215 in currency. He said he intended making good an overdraft of eighteen dollars in a Martinsville bank and paying a few bills which he owed there. He failed to return Thursday and enquiries made from his home failed to result in trace of his being found. Mrs. Talbott then went to Martinsville to make personal enquiries and found that her husband had been to the bank and that he had been seen at sundown in an automobile with one or more other men. From that time he has dropped completely from view. His father does not disguise in anxiety and fears that the young man has been the victim of violence. In the meantime many enquiries have been set on foot by the police but they have found no clues. Up until Monday his whereabouts had not been learned. Talbott, who has been married for two years is a modest young man and unusually attentive to business matters. His dropping from view is a complete mystery.

MT. HERMON
JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last March a meeting of the Community League was called in order to put the question of the consolidation of several schools before the people and the result was "Mt. Hermon Junior High School."

Through the efforts of the patrons the beautiful new building was placed on the Franklin turnpike, half a mile from Mt. Hermon Baptist church, and about a mile from the railroad station of Fall Creek. This building has five large rooms, well ventilated and lighted. A large hall and two roomy cloak-rooms. It is heated by large heaters and the house is built on a strictly sanitary basis.

There is a nice drive-way and a large play ground. The patrons met in the fall and graded, plowed and packed the grounds, filled the unnecessary ditches and cleared the brush. The teachers are Miss Julia Asher, of Brookneal, as principal and teacher of first year high school subjects and the seventh grade. Miss Margaret Witt of Fall Creek, a splendid and enthusiastic teacher of the sixth and fifth grades. Miss Kate Robertson, an experienced teacher of the fourth and third grades, and Miss Anna Collier, of Milton, N. C., teacher of the primary grades.

League meets and an interesting program often rendered. In November they sent a delegate to the conference at Richmond and won a banner.

Through the efforts of Watson Dis Jones and Dudley of Danville, paid us a visit several weeks ago and made very interesting talks.

February 14th, the third and fourth grades entertained the parents and patrons with a Valentine social. It was simply beautiful and displayed wonderful talent and taste.

Primary elections and a sham sitting of Conference were held by the upper grades.

Mr. Peary paid us a visit last week and he must have been pleased for we sent him away with a smile.

The school is preparing for a great day the twentieth when we will celebrate Flag Day. Further notice of this will be printed later.

This is our song and if you don't believe we are living up to it come and see.

"Mt. Hermon boys and girls are high-minded."

I believe to my soul they are double-jointed.

They study hard and don't mind it.

All day long!"

A hearty welcome awaits every one who cares to visit us. Come and if the pretty teachers don't have time to talk to you and show you around, there are about two hundred and sixty splendid boys and girls who are at your service.

PORTIA PERFECT SAYS WOMAN: MAN OUGHT TO RULE.

BOSTON, March 3.—Portia was the perfect woman, according to "Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, director of the School of Political Economy, speaking at the Public Laboratory."

According to Mrs. Avery Shakespear's Portia was gentle, submissive and not a feminist. Man must rise to his dignity. He is the head of the family in spite of all that radical women have said or may say. The only preservation of these United States is in keeping the home alive and in reviving the true spirit of wifehood, idealized by Portia.

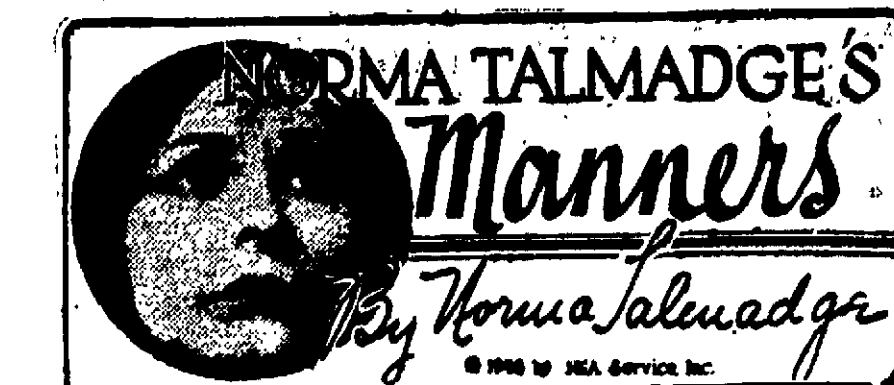

BOYS PUT WINTERGREEN FLAVOR IN CIGARETTES

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio, March 3.—A novel method of obtaining a cool smoke is being used by local high school boys. Many of the young chaps carry small tins containing oil of wintergreen. As each cigarette is being prepared for lighting the cork is taken from the tin and a slight touch of the candy flavoring is run along the length of the cigarettes.

WOMAN 86, TO VISIT OLD KING TUP AND CARTRIDGE

CHICAGO, March 3.—Being 86 years of age does not bar Mrs. Lydia Avery County Ward, a former Chicago resident, from activity. Mrs. Ward plans a trip to Egypt, where she will visit the tomb of King Tutankhamen, as a member of the archaeological expedition which will excavate the ruins of ancient Carthage.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson Penn and Miss Marie Penn sailed Monday for Panama.

POLITENESS and polite go hand in hand. Gentility is as necessary on the street as in the drawing room; more so, for on the street the world and his wife are watching you. The stranger in today's crowd may be your associate in conversation. Every opportunity to create a good impression can be converted into life's greatest asset, good-will.

IN THE STREET
1. Bowing first is the woman's privilege but she never fails to bow even to a slight acquaintance, without good reason.

2. A man walking with two women does not sandwich himself between them, but walks on the curb side, with the elder woman next to him.

3. On meeting an acquaintance with whom one wishes to chat, one should stroll along with him, instead of stopping.

4. In any situation which suggests to a man that he raise his hat, it is better to do so. For should he be in error it at least is on the side of courtesy.

5. A simple "thank you" is all that's required of a woman for whom a man has retrieved a glove, bag or handkerchief.

RUM VESSEL IS FOUND DESERTED

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 3.—The bootlegging schooner Victor was found adrift off Ambrose Lightship with no sign of life aboard police reported tonight. Indications pointed to a hasty abandonment of the vessel as a fresh food was found on a dining table and all lifeboats were missing.

Customs officials expressed the opinion it was the work of rum pirates, who probably forced the crew off the ship and then looted the cargo.

Since there have been no storms recently in this quarter, it was pointed out, some other factor was responsible for the sudden abandonment of the ship.

Two fishermen found the abandoned vessel near Barren Island three days ago, toward it to the island and notified police there. A customs tug brought the Victor to Manhattan tonight.

The Victor has figured in several liquor running battles, with prohibition officers off the coast of New Jersey, where a rum fleet has been riding at anchor most of the last two months.

CAILLAUX PLANS COUP TO FURTHER HIS OWN CASE

PARIS, March 3.—An amazing political movement is rapidly gaining ground in France. It is directed mainly against M. Poincare and what are deemed to be the Poincare policies, and its main spring is M. Caillaux, former Prime Minister of France, who is at present suffering from the verdict of the High Court decreeing the loss of certain rights of citizenship.

Hardly a word of this campaign is heard in Paris, or finds its way into the Paris Press. You have to travel to the south, to the east, and to the west of France to find evidences of this movement, and when you do they are unmistakable. Practically one-third of the provincial newspapers in these districts are conducting a frank, open and vigorous campaign for Caillaux's return to power.

Growing More Daring.
The most outward and visible and potent sign of this movement is seen in the results of the many by-elections which are continually being held, and almost without exceptions are decided in favor of the Poincare policies, and its main spring is M. Caillaux, former Prime Minister of France, who is at present suffering from the verdict of the High Court decreeing the loss of certain rights of citizenship.

In Caillaux's sentence there is a clause ordering his removal from the district whenever his presence is held to be the cause of any political agitation.

Despite this virtual ban on public oratory, Caillaux openly addresses great and enthusiastic gatherings, and is not interfered with in any way. His political activity, although considerable, is caused by his presence.

The Ruhr "Disaster."
Six weeks ago, when Senator Rivett, of the United States, occurred the sensational election. M. Caillaux, who is very prominent in the National Bloc (the party controlled by the Comité des Forges—the steelmasters of France), seemed his certain successor, but he was suddenly ousted at the polls by an obscure Radical, M. Amelin, who entered the contest with Caillaux's endorsement, and who during the election distributed copies of a letter from Caillaux saying that the occupation of the Ruhr was the most disastrous movement France had ever made.

Caillaux added that while he believed in putting the screw on Germany, and extracting just reparation, it should only be done with reference to the future of France, and not the future of Marshal Foch and M. Poincare.

Amelin fought a very keen battle, and won by a vote of 5 to 1. His war-cry was "We must evacuate."

A Silent Dictatorship.
This sort of thing is true not only in high lights but is most of the minor ones.

For a time, should the impossible happen and Caillaux win, I think he would prefer to wield a silent dictatorship in Paris, preparing the public gradually for what he hopes to be his triumphant return to personal power.

The signs of the gathering storm are many. People are losing patience and are trying to move too quickly for one of the shrewdest brains in France.

M. Caillaux's supporters frankly boast that their leader will be completely vindicated, and will eventually step into power. If they make good their word, the effect on world politics will be immense—will they?

SAYS JAIL TERMS WILL REDUCE VICE
CHICAGO, March 3.—Judges must co-operate with the police for the most effective method of suppressing crime and vice, Samuel P. Thrasher, chairman of a Committee of Fifteen, investigating vice in Chicago, told a Grand Jury.

"Jail sentence and not the customary small fines will do the work," said Thrasher. "The average fine paid by women taken in vice raids is three dollars. Such a fine can have no salutary effect."

"The men who live off the proceeds of these women can easily pay these fines, but they cannot serve their jail sentences. If the courts and their would-be effect on world politics will be immense—will they?"

Y. W. C. A. Drive To Begins This Week

The annual membership drive of the Young Women's Christian Association, one of the most popular and commendable of this city's institutions, is scheduled for this week and will begin tomorrow morning.

It is desired to enroll as members all who are in sympathy with the aims and purposes of this association, and the membership fee is fixed at a minimum of one dollar, but members who can afford it may make the membership fee five, ten or twenty dollars, or even more if they so desire.

The Y. W. C. A. is peculiarly a home for the young woman who is employed in Danville and has not a home here in the sense of parental residence, but it includes all young women of good character—those who work and those who have homes and even those who desire leisure. Thus all women are eligible. Since the association is dependent upon its membership dues and the sum donated by the people in the community, every dollar membership membership aids in the perpetuation of this noble philanthropy, which is looking forward expectantly to a home of its own, with comfortable dormitories for those who desire them. Even in leased and limited quarters, the association has become a popular assembling place, a center of entertainment and social service work and a boon to hundreds of young women.

All are invited and urged to enroll today and give the drive a fine first-day impetus.

Y. W. C. A. Drive To Begins This Week

The annual election of directors will be held at the association building next Thursday, March 8. The polls will be open from nine o'clock in the morning until eight o'clock at night. Seven directors are to be elected for a term of three years each and the nominating committee has placed in nomination the following men: G. P. Geoghegan, Jr., Henry Roediger, J. M. Thomas, T. S. Williamson, H. F. Day, Wade H. Pierce and Herbert Ferguson. When the polls close the nominating committee will count the votes and announce the election at the annual meeting of the association which will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Physical Director George N. Savage, left Saturday for Charleston, S. C., where he will attend the Southern Physical Directors' Conference which meets on March 5-6.

Harry T. Baker, who for five years was state boys' work secretary for Virginia and was one of the founders of the State Y. M. C. A. boys' camp near Natural Bridge, was a visitor in Danville Friday evening. Mr. Baker is now International Boys' Work Secretary for the New England states.

The Junior Sunday school basketball league is now playing its last round of games with Mt. Vernon, Main Street and Baptist close in the race for the junior pennant.

With the selection of the captains for the boys' teams the organization of the basketball league is nearly complete. The following boys were chosen: Alger Ruffin, Albert Motley, Stanley Lea, and St. Clair Winkler.

GIRL STOWAWAY HAD VISIONS OF MOVIE WEALTH

(By The Associated Press.)
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 3.—Visions of going into the movies, amassing fabulous wealth like the Americas Films shown in Germany pictured it, coupled with his failure to obtain employment and proper food in her native land, caused Tohomua Murman, young German woman to join forces with five stowaways on board the freighter Wilhelm Hemsoth, which arrived here Thursday.

All are invited and urged to enroll today and give the drive a fine first-day impetus.

The stowaways were discovered by the ship's crew, hidden in a life boat, weak from lack of nourishment, when the ship was four days out of Hamburg. The men stowaways said they did not seek to evade the immigration laws, but boarded the ship because it would be away from Germany for four months, during which time they will be insured of some money to eat. All will be taken back to Germany when the Wilhelm Hemsoth starts her return voyage.

C. T. S. WILL CLOSE SEASON MONDAY

The Chatham Training School basketball quint will close its season Monday at Chatham when it meets the strong five of Randolph-Macon Academy, Bedford, Va. The Chatham team was beaten by close score in a previous game at Chatham and expected to put up a hard fight to make things stand at a tie.

The Chatham Reserves will take a trip the latter part of the present week, playing the Stuart High team on Thursday night, Bassett on Friday night and Martinsville High on Saturday.

THIRTEEN MEN INCOMMUNICADO

(By The Associated Press.)
PALATKA, Fla., March 3.—Thirteen men arrested at Gainesville early yesterday in connection with an attack on the Putnam County jail in an attempt to take Arthur Johnson, negro, held for the murder of H. C. Cross, of Albany, Ga., were brought here late today by Sheriff P. M. Hazen and placed in jail. Newspaper men are not allowed to see them.

The prisoners are held on charges of assault with intent to murder, firing into an occupied dwelling and conspiracy to commit felony. None has furnished the $5,000 bond fixed by County Judge J. C. Calhoun, before whom they are expected to be arraigned Monday.

Meanwhile the negro is in jail at Jacksonville, where he was spirited early today to prevent further trouble.

Sheriff Hazen was shot in the hand after he had hit one member of the mob over the head with his pistol and gone inside the jail, which was riddled with bullets.

KATE FINDS HER FAITH

THE sun was just rising over the tops of the trees when Kate heard a car turn into the driveway. Justin and Dorothy had gone to the fields for the morning. The house was still asleep. Kate pulled the rug from under the strawberry bed and loosened the earth around the plants, preparatory to the winter season. Kate was alone.

"You told me to come late in the afternoon," Kate recognized James Latham's voice as she neared the door, "but the day has been dragging too slowly. I had to come!"

Kate opened the door.

"I'm glad you did," he said.

"And what does that mean, Lady Fair?" his voice was vibrant, "that you do love me?"

It hurt Kate to watch the eager young face, tanned and tined with color.

"Lady Fair?" breathlessly, pleadingly.

"I can't—Jimmy I was—all wrong—all wrong."

"You might have known," without any bitterness.

"You don't mean that, Jimmy. You'll be glad some day that I did this some day when you find the woman who can give you her love, which is the only real love."

"Then it's still Dan?"

"Yes."

The silence which followed seemed alive. Kate felt a strange happiness. She was glad of her answer to Latham, for she had known that in marrying him she would have made him as unhappy as she would. Kate's heart had been given once, and to this attempt to revive it Kate credited many unhappy marriages.

"Then," Latham was speaking slowly, "I might as well do the decent thing. I might as well tell you I lied when I said I saw Dan Ward register at a hotel with a woman."

"And I lied," Kate said, "when I said I was the woman."

"You have meant something to me though," Kate went on, "and you will always have my appreciation for that." She offered her hand.

"You knew Alice was buried to-day?" said Latham, as he turned to go.

KATE was sitting on the steps in the sunlight when Justin and Dorothy returned from the field. Dorothy rushed into Kate's outstretched arms. Justin dropped easily into place beside his daughter.

He took her hand and waited for her to speak. He knew that she had much to say to him, so while she was waiting he tried to understand of his daughter.

"Yes, father, I do want to talk to you," said Kate.

And then she told Justin of the burden of the little battered trunk. She told him of James Latham and her decision.

"I'm glad, child," he said when she had finished, "I'm glad for the girl who is gone—your mother."

"The last thing she thought of was you. I knew she'd bring you back to us and that somehow she'd earn your love again."

"Call it what you will, Nannie," he said.

"YES, FATHER—I'VE FOUND MY FAITH AGAIN"

"YES, FATHER—I'VE FOUND MY FAITH AGAIN"

continued, "Intuition, hunch, or some supernatural force—I know that your mother couldn't have been happy until she had given you back the faith you lost that noon 12 years ago when you returned from the city and her words sent you back."

"Finding Dan's letter has given you back that faith—hasn't it, girl?" His hand was on her hair.

In the silence that followed, while she thought of her father's words, she vaguely sensed a connection between them—her faith, her mother, Dan's letter.

At length—

"Yes, father—I've found my faith again," she said.

"And there's only one love that ever really touches the heart, isn't there, Nannie?" He was talking half to himself.

"Yes—just one."

Justin stopped to stroke Nannie, who had settled at his feet on the steps.

It was after dinner. The trees were purple along the horizon and the sun had disappeared behind the hill. Kate sought the rustic chairs under the pines.

Justin was there. He did not look up as his daughter approached. He sat strangely motionless. Kate touched his hand. She spoke to him. He made no motion. Kate stepped back and searched his face in the gathering shadows.

Then she knew. Justin had come to the end of the way.

Kate stood lost, with tear-dimmed eyes, looking out over the great stretch of grass, a stretch she had come to love because in it she had found peace, and alone with it, she was lonely no longer.

DRUG HABIT IS WIDESPREAD AT EL PASO

EL PASO, Tex., March 3.—El Paso has a drug problem to solve, and according to city and county officials, it is a serious one. Mrs. Emma Webster, county probation officer, in a statement asserts that more than 100 boys here are confirmed drug addicts. Daily she is confronted by heart broken parents, who have just found that their children are using narcotics in some form. One belief expressed by those who claim to know is that a modern "Pagan" is teaching young people to use narcotics. Smugglers are believed to be the chief source of supply. Mrs. Webster said that many children in Juarez are forming the habit or already are confirmed addicts to the use of various drugs.

Curiosity is one of the chief factors in the forming of the habit. Authorities say as many will try it once, ignorant of the misery that follows. A few years ago, according to corporation judge Charles Pollock, one could have counted the drug users on the fingers of one hand. Now he says, there is an average of one a day at least before him, not counting so many who fall in the hands of federal officers and are sent to Leavenworth prison for cure.

Drug addicts are not now confined to the poverty stricken, but are found in all walks of life, from the poorest to the members of the social circles, college boys and girls and various employees of the business world, according to these authorities.

Judge Manuel Ayala, of the Juarez lower court, declares that the tricks employed by narcotic vendors are many and varied and constitute a difficult problem for the officers.

One trick was discovered when a man was arrested for selling opium match boxes to boys at 25 cents each. Investigation proved that a drug was wrapped in small papers and hidden beneath the matches.

Another ruse is the hiding of the drug in cigaret packages.

GIRL RESTORED TO HER MOTHER AFTER SEARCH

(By The Associated Press.)
CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 3.—A dramatic scene was enacted in the corridor of the juvenile place of detention here late today when Helen Sinclair, 16 of Rochester, N. Y. was restored to her mother. A search for the girl, who disappeared from a boarding school at Buena Vista, Virginia January 15.

The mother had taken the first train from Rochester when she received a message from Cincinnati detectives Friday, saying a girl answering the description of her daughter was working in a Cincinnati factory. The girl was traced to Conington, Ky., where she was taken into custody pending the arrival of her mother.

When questioned, Miss Sinclair refused to make a statement. "I will tell the answers to anything," she said. "What they don't know won't hurt them."

On the way from Conington to Cincinnati, the girl told detectives she ran away from school to make her own way in the world.

Strikes because union official is not fired

HAZELTON, Pa., Mar. 3.—Demanding the dismissal of an official of a local union who is charged with embezzlement but in whose case no arrest has been made, the miners at the Hazleton shaft colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company struck today because the company would not suspend the accused man. About 800 employees are idle and production was cut approximately 1,000 tons for the day. If the colliery remains idle Monday it will result in shutting down four other mines whose production is sent to Hazleton shaft to be prepared for market.

The trouble leading to the strike was discussed at a meeting of the mine last night when officers of the mine workers, it was said, tried to prevent the tie-up.

Replaces Medicine As Curing Dose

NEW YORK, March 5.—Did you ever hear of weaving yourself back into health?

Health weaving is the newest profession which twentieth century woman has brought into her many modern industries. It is called therapeutic weaving and the two young women who have introduced it are Beatrice Vail Abbott, daughter of the late Lyman Abbott and Edith Huntington Snow, daughter of the late Dr. Frank H. Snow, chancellor of Kansas University.

"We know from personal experience how weaving helps one when in a convalescent state, recovering from an illness or a nervous breakdown," said Miss Snow, in the studio where she and Miss Abbott teach hand weaving on the fifth floor of the Art Center in East 50th street.

"Weaving has been proved in hospitals and sanitariums to be one of the most important crafts in occupational therapy. We have felt that having our studio in a truly artistic center where the pupils are surrounded by artistic creative influences has double value."

In the big studio where Miss Abbott and Miss Snow were instructing, eight women were bent over so many hand looms. Miss Abbott explained: "It means so much to a person who is depressed or nervous to feel their creative force materializing into something beautiful. The creation of beauty in a few moments gives an immediate incentive to the pupil. At the same time the work demands attention and develops concentration and patience."

HIGH RECORDS FOR THE SEASON

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 4.—While all months made new high records for the season in the cotton market today, the feature was the increasing activity and relative strength of new crop deliveries.

This was attributed to covering by shorts, trade buying, and a shifting of commission house interest in the old to the newer new crop months owing to the recent interest in their discounts and prospect for further gains in the southwest.

October contracts sold up to 26 82 or 72 points net higher and closed at 26 77 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 15 to 57 points. Old crop months were 15 to 21 points and the active new crop positions about 64 to 67 points net higher.

THE MARKET OPENED FIRM AT AN ADVANCE OF 7 TO 26 POINTS ON BULLISH OVERNIGHT SPOT ADVICES FROM THE SOUTH, FAVORABLE WEEK-END REVIEWS OF THE COTTON GOODS SITUATION, AND REPORTS THAT PRIVATE RETURNS INDICATED A TOTAL GAINING FOR THE SEASON OF ONLY 9,700,000 BALES.

After showing net advances of 25 points for the old crop months the market eased under realizing for over the week end and scattered southern selling accompanied by rather conflicting reports from the spot markets. There were reactions in consequence our offerings of new crop deliveries were quickly absorbed and the strength of October and December contracts had a sustaining influence on the general list. The reports small private ginning figures were regarded as emphasizing the probability of a very strong statistical position at the end of this season which might be felt early new crop deliveries in case there should be any delay in new crop receipts. Trade interests were credits with selling May and July against purchases of October, while there was an active covering by both October and December while there was active covering by both October and December short, May sold as high as 30 81 and July touched 28 85 but the close was a few points off from the best on the old crop deliveries. Some of the private reports reaching here from the South this morning said that more cotton was offering and that demand was light but most of them reported scarcity of supplies and firm prices.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—There were two outstanding features in today's market compared with only one prominent heretofore this week. Not only did old crop months establish new high records, but new crops became the centre of the first activity in sometime. It will be recalled that October touched 26 75 the middle of January and since then has been under constant pressure as a direct result of an unusually favorable winter in the South but in the

 If you are sick, you may be sure there is something wrong with your spine. No person with a perfectly normal spine can suffer with sickness. This is a broad statement but we stand ready to support it with convincing proof.
 As Chiropractors, we say the CAUSE of disease is pressure on spinal nerves, and because of interference with the flow of the necessary nerve force. As Chiropractors, we are able to correct this nerve pressure, and once the CAUSE is removed, health is the inevitable result.
 If you are not enjoying perfect health, there are two reasons why you should be interested in our claims, namely, because no one has successfully disputed them, and because the testimony of our patients proves them true.
 Our patients recover their health, because we understand Chiropractic thoroughly, because we believe in it implicitly, and because we have had the training and experience to practice it successfully.
 Consultation and spinal analysis is free and places you under no obligations whatever. We will be glad to explain why Chiropractic is acknowledged to be the modern way—the BETTER way to health.

Congress Ends Two Year Session With Speeches and Songs

Sixty-Seventh Session
Comes to a Close at Noon
Sunday After President
Has Signed Many Bills—
Congressmen Off Home
for Long Holiday.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The 67th Congress, which had spent a greater proportion of its two-year span of life in actual session than any other in the history of the country, adjourned sine die at noon today.

During the last few hours of the session, President Harding, spending part of the time at the capitol, signed the farm credit bill and 88 other measures. No legislation was vetoed.

Vice President Coolidge's gavel fell sharply at noon, after an almost colorless morning session of two hours and ten minutes adjourned at 12:05 p. m. after a concert or a section of the maine band and a chorus of popular songs by members and spectators.

Tonight the departure of members, many of whom today entered their last roll call, was in full swing with prospective suspension of activities at the capitol until next December brings in the 68th Congress.

Crowds witnessed the closing scenes, adjournment and presence of President Harding, cabinet officers, diplomats and other high officials bringing hundreds who packed the senate and house galleries.

The president reached the capitol at 11:25 o'clock and was kept busy reading and signing the final avalanche of bills. Before going to the capitol he signed the farm credit and 43 other bills, turned out during the early morning session.

The last bill to become law was the "better butter measure," changing butter fat standard. An important measure placed on the statute books at the last moment was the one providing for return to enemy alien owners of all seized property worth $10,000 or less.

Little was accomplished by either senate or house in the last two-hour session this morning. Members were hollow-eyed and worn from the long night sessions which lasted in the house until 3:23 a. m. and in the senate until after 10 p. m.

Reassembling at 10 o'clock, the senate heard "swan songs" by Senators Frelinghuysen, Republican, New Jersey, and Sutherland, Republican West Virginia, a tribute to Senator Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, by his colleague, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and tried vainly to pass a few more bills. A 15-minute filibuster by Senator Dial, Democrat, South Carolina, enlivened the proceedings before the vice president's fall in the midst of senator Dial's speech against an omnibus pension bill pressed by Senator Bursum, Republican New Mexico.

Previously Senators Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Robinson, of Arkansas, Republican and Democratic leaders, appointed to confer with President Harding, and advised the senate that the president had "no more communications to make." When Mr. Coolidge declared the senate adjourned, the house adjourned at 10:30 p. m. in the great hall of the capitol.

The final hours in the house were more colorful. The marine orchestra, playing in the "bell" used for favor with a hastily organized quartet of members whose rendition of old favorites soon drew into a mighty chorus the entire house and most of the spectators who overflowed the galleries onto the floor. The quartet and orchestra were established by working agreement, with Representative Winifred Mason Huck, of Illinois, joining the musicians as a violinist, playing a borrowed instrument.

Representative-elect Perry, a Democrat who is to represent C. Rebec from the Ninth Virginia district, was introduced in the role of soloist by Representative Snyder, Republican, of New York. He sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and watched the crowd join the chorus.

Representative Clarke, of New York, was the choir master but was displaced temporarily by Representative Burden, of Kentucky, who led the singers into "My Old Kentucky Home." Clarke had the usual place on the right orchestra program and as its closing strains filled the chamber, members went up from the floor and galleries, with the piercing "sob" of "Farewell" above the din. The southern chorists were led by Representative Ward, of North Carolina, from a hastily selected place on the top of a table in the center of the Democratic side.

Farewell eulogies occupied much of the time of the hour and a half the house was in session. Representatives Ford, of Michigan, Campbell, of Kansas, Kitchin, of North Carolina, Allen, of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Huck all were given occasions but Uncle Joe's "Farewell" received the greatest tribute.

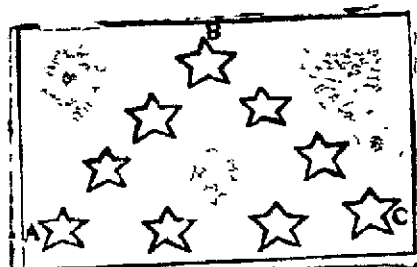

After praise of the retiring veterans of 45 years of legislative service had been paid by Representative Clark, Republican, New York, and Senator Democratic, Mississippi, Mr. Huggins was escorted down the center aisle by Representative Robinson, of Ohio, while members and senators stood, applauding and cheering.

Before the close of the session the senate vote passed in charge of the house with a resolution was adopted by unanimous vote, thinking of the speaker of the house, Mr. Huggins, who had presided for the past two years. Representative Collier, of Mississippi, replaced Representative Campbell, the speaker pro tempore, and Representative Carroll, Tennessee, the minority leader, offered the resolution.

Today's whirlwind of bills, speeches, documents and other business swamped capitol clerks and also the government printing office. The congressional record today carried only about half of last night's procedure.

The flood of speech making in the record, however, will not cease until March 15 publication being continued to accommodate "leave to print" speeches and other matter.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Large the nine digits (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9) fill in the space shown above in such a way that the four figures from A to B will add up to the same total as the four figures from B to C and A to C.

Saturday's answer:

If a man desired to cut twenty yards of rope into ten pieces, each two yards long, and if he cut off two yards each day, it would take him nine days to cut up the rope. At the end of eight days he would have a four-yard piece remaining, and his ninth-day cut would divide the piece into two pieces each two yards long.

Hunt "Dead" Man

Police of New Haven, Conn., faced an unusual mystery when they began search for De Lafayette Flint, school principal, reported dead in New York hospital. Hospital failed to verify report but no trace of Flint could be found.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—The local wool market is under due largely to the fact that stocks of domestic wool are very short. Local buyers are taking early southwestern clip at firm prices and this is strengthening the local market for stock in this city.

Early risers always are very proud of themselves.
Two farmers were boasting of their achievements in that particular, and one of them resolved to show up the other. So he rose one morning about 2 o'clock, went over to his neighbor's house and knocked on the door. The neighbor's wife called out:

"Who's there?" replied the visitor.
"It's Jim Place," replied the wife.
"I'm looking for your husband. Where is he?"

The wife scented mice.
"Why, I don't know," she answered.
"I guess he's out around the farm somewhere. I haven't seen him since last morning."
